Habanos Trade Brief

Sample issue · data read 8 November 2026
Published from Malmö, Sweden

FOR LICENSED TOBACCO TRADE ONLY. NOT FOR CONSUMERS. NOT AN OFFER TO SELL TOBACCO.

The story this week is stock, not price. Prices barely moved on the week. What changed is how little is on the shelf: of 228 box prices our scraper read in the last fourteen days, 40 were in stock (18%). For 25 of the 52 vitolas we track, no retailer we read had a box in stock.

1 · NORDIC SUPPLY

The Nordic Habanos importer, Elite Trading Scandinavia AB (formerly Habanos Nordic AB), lost its tobacco licence in Gothenburg on 15 December 2025. Its appeal was rejected in early summer 2026, shareholders voted for voluntary liquidation on 1 July, and Bolagsverket received the filing on 3 August. As of our last check, no successor distributor for the Nordic and Baltic markets has been publicly named.

The one Swedish Habanos Specialist we read daily showed 0 of 12 tracked boxes in stock on 8 November.

Stock as each retailer's own page reported it when we read it. We confirmed one German "sold out" reading by hand on 8 November (Noblego: "Momentan ausverkauft, Liefertermin unbekannt"). We have not yet confirmed by hand the UK retailer that shows nearly every box in stock; treat that row as unverified.

0 of these 27 vitolas were in stock at only one retailer, in the UK. Prices are each retailer's shelf price in its own currency, converted to euros at our reference rate, with that country's own duty and VAT included. They are not landed costs: a box crossing a border picks up destination duty and VAT.

HOW THIS IS MADE

Our board lists 23 European Habanos retailers; we read their product pages up to four times a day for price, box size and whether the page says the box is in stock. In the fourteen days to 8 November, 10 of them returned fresh readings. The Habanos Index is the equal-weighted average of 52 vitolas; each vitola moves only when the same retailer changes the in-stock price of the same box, so a retailer selling out does not move it. It is not Habanos S.A.'s list price and not what any one buyer pays after duty. Fourteen days or newer counts as fresh here; older readings are excluded from every table above.

This is a sample. The full brief would arrive weekly, with every retailer named, the full 52-vitola table, Nordic stock tracked separately, and alerts when a reference comes back into stock. Reply to the email this came with if you would like it, or to tell us what you would want in it.
